Haverhill in Bloom in danger

Charity facing closure without more help

FLORENCE SNEAD
@FlorenceSneadCN

A CHARITY which helps keep Haverhill looking good could soon close if it does not manage to recruit more volunteers.

The news comes after Haverhill in Bloom (HIB) announced this week that it would be discussing potential closure at its upcoming annual general meeting.

Haverhill in Bloom currently has four committee members but needs more volunteers to help carry out tasks such as sowing seeds, planting trees and installing hanging baskets.

HIB secretary Michael Simpkin, 63, said the organisation could close within three months of its November 22 AGM unless more people came forward to help.

He said: "We need more people to join the committee and come on board."

"We are there to help beautify the town but unfortunately with the amount of people we have to do the work it's a hard struggle."

HIB was founded in 2004 and receives funding for its work from St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Haverhill Town Council and community group ONE Haverhill.

Among the charity's recent projects was a major revamp of the St Mary's Churchyard last year.

Mr Simpkin urged people to go along to the AGM to find out more.

The meeting will start at 5pm at East Town Park in Coupals Road, Haverhill.

Anyone who wants to get involved can also contact Val Morton on havinbloom@gmail.com or (01440) 709099.

CELEBRATIONS: Pupils at Westfield Primary Academy get acquainted with their new classroom

Extra room for primary school pupils

A PRIMARY school in Haverhill has officially opened a new classroom to help provide tailored support for pupils.

The new space at Westfield Primary Academy will now mean staff can provide one-to-one support to pupils away from the classroom.

Headteacher Nicky Tyler said the extension had become essential.

She said: "It came about as we identified that we were running out of space as the school had simply become full.

"It is fantastic to have this wonderful learning space for our children as it will enable them, when necessary, to really focus and concentrate on their learning."

CRIME

Police to wear body cameras

POLICE in Haverhill are set to start wearing body cameras next year.

Police bosses say the cameras, which will be rolled out across Suffolk and Norfolk, will improve public trust in the force.

The cameras will be attached to front-line officers' uniforms, and will not be permanently recording.

Members of the public will be notified when they are being recorded, and the cameras will make a beeping noise and emit a flashing red light when recording is taking place.

The cameras will be introduced by a dedicated team in a staged roll-out in the spring of next year.

Temporary Assistant Chief Constable Mike Fawcett, programme lead for body cameras, said: "We are always looking to ways to further improve the public's trust in community policing. Cameras offer greater transparency for those in front of the camera as well as behind it.

HANNAH MIRSKY

"Our officers often have to work in challenging situations and the use of body-worn video cameras can be a valuable tool in supporting them whilst building the public's confidence."

He said that cameras could speed up the process of justice.

Experience of using them elsewhere has shown that offenders in domestic violence cases are more likely to plead guilty when they know they have been recorded.

Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore said: "Anything that improves the public's trust and confidence in the constabulary and makes life on the streets safer for our police officers has my full support."

He said he and Chief Constable Gareth Wilson were united in their commitment to making sure officers have the training and equipment they need.

Suffolk police say that information about precise costings, the number of body cameras and which officers will wear them will be made available as the project moves forward.

EDUCATION

Progress in early years learning on the up, say new figures

THE number of children in Suffolk making good progress in their early years is on the rise, according to new figures.

Provisional data released by the Department for Education (DfE) has revealed an increase of children in the county achieving a 'Good Level of Development' (GLD) in their Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) results.

The learning assessments cover a number of key areas such as communication and language, physical development and personal, social and emotional development.

In Suffolk, 70.2 per cent of children achieved a GLD this year, compared to 67.6 per cent last year.

Cllr Gordon Jones, Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for children's services, education and skills, said: "This is a fantastic result for Suffolk children. I am thrilled to see Suffolk's GLD figures continue to rise year on year and that we have continued to stay above the national average."

POLICE

'Keep tricks legal during Hallowe'en'

POLICE are urging people to keep their Hallowe'en tricks within the law this weekend and to treat others with respect.

The appeal has been issued by Norfolk and Suffolk Constabularies as the nation gears up for the spooky annual festival.

The forces have warned that some people, particularly older residents, can find the arrival of trick-or-treaters on their doorsteps both intimidating and distressing.

Both said they will be stepping up their patrols across the counties and that they will be working with residents, partner agencies and local businesses to ensure that celebrations are safe and enjoyable for everyone.

During the Hallowe'en and bonfire night period, safety messages will be posted on both Norfolk and Suffolk Constabularies' social media accounts using its little monsters – Vicky Vampire, Mike the Mummy, Freddie Frankenstein and Woof the Werewolf.

Hallowe'en posters are also available to download from the Norfolk Police website for people to display on their homes, indicating whether they welcome trick-or-treaters.

Making a pig's ear of the day

A MEALWORM smoothie and a bite of pig's eye are unlikely to be anyone's first choice from the menu but those were the dishes faced by one group of brave fundraisers.

But it was all for a good cause as business bosses from across the region swapped the boardroom for the bush-craft trials in a bid to raise £13,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Among those showing their support for the charity, which runs the Burton Centre in Haverhill, was Paul Donno, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

Paul, 48, said he was keen to do his bit, particularly as the charity cared for fellow Castle Manor Academy board director Julie Morse before she lost her battle with cancer.

He said: "We had to eat a pig eye, which was horrible, a pig's ear, a pig's snout and a pig's brain. The worst one was the pig's ear – the after-taste was awful!"

"We did other stuff – blind-folded holding [of] animals, one was a rat, which I thought was a monkey, and also a snake and a lizard.

FLORENCE SNEAD

"I wasn't keen on the whole holding animals part as I'm not keen on snakes but I'm glad we did it and I raised over £600.

"The hospice needs more money to keep it going so I'm really pleased."

It is the second time that St Nicholas Hospice Care has laid on the day, dubbed 'I'm a CEO... Get Me Outta Here'.

The tasks, which also included hunting for stars in tubs of worms and maggots, took inspiration from those faced by celebrities in the popular ITV programme I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here.

Abbey Mayes, a St Nicholas Hospice Care fundraiser, was one of the key drivers behind the event.

She said: "The whole day was a lot of fun, it was fantastic. There was definitely an abundance of team spirit and although everyone was competing against each other for the crown they all encouraged each other along especially during the eating challenge.

"Thank you everyone who helped make this the event possible and to everyone who took part for raising so much.

"The money will help to make living with dying better for people facing long-term or life-threatening illnesses, and their families."

Each participant was asked to raise £1,000 to take part, with the total currently raised standing at £13,000.

The overall winner was Alex Till, chief executive of Suffolk-based mentoring business Menta.

He was presented with his crown by world champion javelin thrower, and former I'm a Celebrity contestant Fatima Whitbread.

COMMUNITY

Your votes vital for heart devices

COMMUNITY first responders in Haverhill have urged the public to get voting in a bid to help them win a grant of up to £10,000 to install new public access defibrillators.

Haverhill Community First Responders have already installed three of the devices but are now appealing for help to get more in the hope that they could save people's lives.

Each public access defibrillator (PAD) costs about £2,500 so a grant of £10,000 could fund three more of the devices to be mounted on buildings in the Haverhill area.

The first responders have now signed up to the Aviva Community Fund initiative, which calls on members of the public to vote for the cause they would like to see receive a cash boost.

Keith Jesson, who has been a community first responder in Haverhill for the last six years, said they had already received more than 100 votes but that the group needed "a lot more" to win the money.

FLORENCE SNEAD
@florencesneadCN

He said: "Every minute that there's a delay in doing CPR and defibrillation reduces the chance of that person surviving by 10 per cent."

"The sooner a defibrillator is applied the more chance that person has of survival, therefore the more defibrillators we have around the more chance we have of saving a life."

Mr Jesson, 69, said the project with the most number of votes would be the one handed the biggest cash injection from the Aviva initiative.

He added: "What people have to do as well to register their votes is to create a free Aviva account before they can cast their votes which is maybe what's preventing people but we have had more than 3,000 Facebook contacts so far so that's really good."

A PAD consists of a secure cabinet and a defibrillator mounted on the outside of a building, with all the devices monitored by the ambulance service.

The defibrillators have a life span of around 10 years and should be placed where they are readily accessible.

Some organisations have defibrillators installed on their premises but these are not always accessible to the general public.

The deadline for voting is November 18. To vote for the defibrillator project, visit avivacommunityfund.co.uk/voting/project/view/16-1816.

CAMPAIGN

Thank you for everything!

NEW HOME: Jack's bedroom and wetroom are now complete thanks to a £25k fundraising campaign and appeal. From left are Jack Power, Michael, Harrison, Natasha and Faye
Pictures: David Johnson

THE mother of a young boy with a rare genetic condition says the completion of his long-awaited new bedroom and wetroom has made a huge impact on their lives.

After five months of fundraising – and a 19-week building project – life for Natasha, 35, and Mike Power, 36, and their young family has infinitely improved – and they say they can't thank people who made it happen enough.

As previously reported, the couple of West Wickham, needed to build a new bedroom and wet room for their son Jack, who has tuberous sclerosis.

The 8-year-old, who also has a 6-year-old brother, Harrison, and baby sister Faye, attends a local special school and was diagnosed with the condition at 12 weeks, after being rushed to A&E with a seizure.

Since our sister paper, the Cambridge News, launched its Power Up! campaign in December, hundreds of friends and well-wishers have rallied round to help the family who have now smashed their initial £25,000 target, raising £26,000.

Jack has now moved into his new bedroom and wetroom.

"It's amazing – he loves it," Natasha said.

"It's not a short-term thing, it's made a difference for the rest of his life. We're so incredibly grateful especially to those who don't know us or don't know Jack and have been touched by that. It's just incredible people have done this for us."

Since Jack was diagnosed in 2008 he has daily seizures – usually four to six in a day – and his epilepsy is both drug and diet resistant.

Natasha and Mike have been carrying Jack up and down the stairs to his bedroom where he has a special padded bed.

But now with the new wetroom and bedroom, which includes a ball pool and soft den along with a special interactive wall panel, he can play safely downstairs and be more independent – and they do not have to carry him any more.

"It makes that space not just a bedroom, but a safe place to play," added Natasha. "He now has that bit of independence. You can be close enough to him but it also gives him that feeling he's on his own and can do things for himself."

"We can function and do things most don't even contemplate. It just means when we're doing all these things Jack doesn't have to be in his bedroom upstairs, away from the family.

"It makes us feel like a family unit. It's made an exceptional difference."

FILM

MARVEL-OUS: Benedict Cumberbatch as Dr Strange and, below, Shane Griffin, free running

FLORENCE SNEAD
@FlorenceSneadCN

IT'S not often that you get to spend your birthday training Benedict Cumberbatch's body double – but it was all in a day's work for Haverhill stunt performer Shane Griffin.

For that was the position the 27-year-old free-runner found himself in last September after he received a call from Marvel to work on their latest blockbuster Doctor Strange.

And there are plenty of big names to look out for with cast members including Sherlock star Benedict Cumberbatch, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Tilda Swinton and Rachel McAdams.

The film was released in the UK this week and Shane – who got to watch it at an early screening – said it was “amazing” to have been involved.

Shane spent two weeks with the Doctor Strange team in the pre-production stage teaching them about parkour techniques and planning out film scenes with cardboard boxes.

“I got offered an audition for Marvel because of the free running and knowing the right people,” he explained.

“It was pretty intense but in a good way. It was like a performance – a bit of fighting and seeing what I could do.

“I did teach before I got more into films which helped me because that's what I was doing – I had to help with some things like creating a scene with parkour elements in it.”

Doctor Strange, which has earned largely positive reviews, tells the story of surgeon Stephen Strange as he learns the mystic arts following a career-ending car accident.

While it was not Shane's first foray into the world of film, he said that the chance to work for Marvel – whose films he grew up watching – was still a “surreal” experience.

He added: “When I got the call from Marvel I was a bit overwhelmed – you have grown up watching Spiderman and being in a film was genuinely amazing.

“I've always liked films and movement so it's combining the two, it's perfect.

“I remember when I was in sixth form and the teacher was like, what do you want to do? I said ‘stunt man’ and everyone laughed – but see what I'm doing now!

“It takes people a while to figure out what they want to do so I feel quite blessed and that I'm on the right path.”

Have a say on post office move and longer opening hours

A POST office in Linton is to be relocated – and to open for an extra 32 hours a week.

The plans to move the South Cambridgeshire village's post office are part of a £1.34billion modernisation programme.

The proposals would move the post office from 5 Balsham Road to Sweet Talk News at 77 High Street.

The relocated post office would be open an extra 32 hours a week. It would open from 7am to 7pm Monday to Saturday, and 7am to 4pm on Sunday.

The move would also improve access, as the current location has steps that make access for people with mobility problems difficult.

A step that is currently at the entrance to the proposed new location, Sweet Talk News, would be levelled out as part of works to create the new open-plan post office space.

The move has been proposed with the approval of the current postmaster, and a six-week public consultation is now under way, and running until November 30.

To participate in the consultation, send a letter by Freepost YOUR COMMENTS to Post Office Ltd, an email to comments@postoffice.co.uk, or call the Customer Helpline on 03457 22 33 44.

Call for awards entries

HAVERHILL'S MP Matt Hancock has urged businesses and individuals to help celebrate apprenticeships in the town at a special awards ceremony.

The ONE Haverhill Partnership Apprenticeship Awards will be held on Friday, November 18, as a way of showcasing the importance of apprentices in Haverhill.

The closing date for entries this year is November 4.

Mr Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, said: "I know what a difference apprentices can make to a local business. I look forward to joining ONE Haverhill Partnership in celebrating their achievements."

EMERGENCY

Fire crews part of national trial

FIREFIGHTERS are providing emergency care to victims of heart attacks in a new trial scheme being rolled out in Haverhill.

The town's fire station is one of five across Suffolk to have been selected to take part in the national trial.

The stations have been chosen because they are some of the busiest for cardiac arrests in the county.

Firefighters from Haverhill will now be sent to emergency calls involving heart attacks alongside paramedics and community first responders.

The ambulance service will still respond to all of these calls, but fire crews may arrive first.

They could provide potentially life-saving care in the crucial few minutes after a cardiac arrest.

Wendy Risdale-Barrs, the ambulance service's regional collaboration lead, said: "We know that the quicker someone starts CPR and gets a defibrillator to a patient in cardiac arrest the better chance they have of surviving."

She said that the scheme built on collaboration work the East of England Ambulance Service Trust (EEAST) had already done with the RAF, community first responders and public-access defibrillation.

Haverhill's firefighters have received training from the East of England Ambulance Service in how to respond to heart attacks, in addition to standard training for firefighters.

Haverhill's firefighters make up around one fifth of the 100 firefighters across Suffolk involved in the scheme.

Both of the fire engines based in Haverhill will be used as part of the scheme – two of the nine across the county.

The fire station has received life-saving equipment from the ambulance service in addition to the standard defibrillators and trauma bags.

Suffolk Fire and Rescue's assistant chief fire officer Dan Fearn said: "The scheme is part of a national trial and Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service is positive and ambitious about continuing our collaboration journey with blue light partners in the county in order to ensure we are doing all that we can to protect and assist the communities of Suffolk when in need."

The scheme was rolled out at the weekend, and will run until February next year.

The other fire stations where the scheme is being introduced are in Lowestoft South, Felixstowe, Sudbury and Long Melford.

POLICING

Yellow line anger does not look like fading

@TaraCoxCN

POLICE have repeated their 'unpopular view' of not prioritising parking over serious crimes after concerns were raised about enforcement in Linton.

Officers said they would always prioritise more serious crimes after the claims, which came during a Sawston sector police meeting last Tuesday.

Chief Inspector James Sutherland, area commander for South Cambridgeshire, updated residents and representatives of crime in their areas before opening up the floor for questions.

Henry Batch, representing Linton Parish Council, said parking on faded yellow lines outside schools in the area is proving a problem.

He said: "There is a small number of public parking spaces near schools in Linton and there are also faded yellow lines."

"This is causing some arguments with those who park outside the school, what can the police do in terms of action?"

"Can police do anything to encourage the Highways Department to repaint those lines?"

Mr Batch said

there were problems with parking enforcement at the schools and also in other areas of Linton.

In response, Mr Sutherland said: "We will do parking enforcement where we can, but my consistent but unpopular view is that I will not prioritise parking when there are much more serious and harmful crimes to be dealt with."

"Parking restrictions are not the answer - and even if officers enforced the area with patrols the number of tickets issued would be very low."

"In the last six months police did 42 hours of patrols dedicated solely on parking enforcement in Linton, and issued just 16 tickets."

"On a visit to Cambridge, we could issue the same amount of tickets in three hours or quicker."

Mr Batch asked whether residents could help by sending photos of cars parked illegally or on double yellow lines.

Mr Sutherland said the force 'would be inundated' with photos if that was the case and doing so would 'open up a can of worms'.

EDUCATION

Award for school

A SCHOOL in Haverhill has been recognised for its work to help pupils learn outside the classroom.

Castle Manor Academy is now the first secondary school in Suffolk to be awarded a Bronze National Learning Outside the Classroom (LoTC) Mark.

Becky Baldwin, who co-ordinates LoTC at the school, said: "Being awarded LoTC Mark is a real achievement. It shows we are really making strides in providing our pupils with an enriched timetable by offering opportunities in our school grounds and in the wider community. We're thrilled to get official recognition for all our efforts."

JUSTICE

Work to start on new justice plan

WORK is set to begin on plans for alternative access to justice after the closure of Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court.

Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore told the News that the county's criminal justice board would begin work on detailed plans when it meets next month.

Criminal cases from the west of the county are now being held in Ipswich – an 80-mile round trip for Haverhill residents.

Mr Passmore and Suffolk MPs Jo Churchill and Peter Aldous travelled to London last Thursday to discuss the closure of the courthouses in Bury St Edmunds and Lowestoft with new courts minister Sir Oliver Heald.

Mr Passmore said: "There's no doubt that Sir Oliver Heald got the message from Suffolk very forcefully that we are not terribly happy at the moment."

But he said that the meet-

HANNAH MIRSKY

ing was positive and the minister supported exploring alternative ways to provide access to justice.

He continued: "We were reassured that the minister is looking for solutions and it would appear that actually they are trying out all sorts of things all over the country."

He said Sir Oliver told them that he was hoping to have new systems for justice up and running in Suffolk within a year.

This means that by October 2017 systems should be in place to allow West Suffolk residents to access justice in nearer locations than Ipswich.

But until then – with the exception of vulnerable victims and witnesses using a video link at Bury St Edmunds – West Suffolk residents will have to travel to Ipswich to go to court.

Mr Passmore had called, unsuccessfully, for a six-month stay of execution on the closure of the Bury St Edmunds court.

He said the county's criminal justice board will now develop detailed plans for alternative arrangements, which could include holding hearings in public buildings such as police stations as well as using more technology like video links.

The board includes representatives from the police, the courts and tribunals service, the prison and probation services, the crown prosecution service, victim support and more.

Once the proposals are put together the public will have a chance to have their say.

ENGAGED: Children listening to Halloween stories at Haverhill Library

Dressing up for some spooky tales

CHILDREN got together for a spooky storytelling session this week as part of an on-going effort to promote the joys of reading.

The event at Haverhill Library was attended by around 20 youngsters, who donned fancy dress for the occasion.

They were treated to a number of Halloween-themed tales, such as Winnie the Witch and Meg and the Dragon.

Library manager Sanphra Willott said: "A lot of them got really into it with great little outfits and costumes.

"We try to promote the library as a fun and informal place for children and parents to feel welcome and engaged."

■ Friday, October 28 – Friday, November 4

■ Things kick off this week with a spectacular show of contemporary, traditional, jazz, modern and street dance, courtesy of the Colette's Entertainment School show SEVEN: Deadly Sins of Dance Show on Saturday at 2.30pm and 7.30pm.

■ Two stalwarts of the 60s music scene Peter Asher and Albert Lee join forces on Wednesday, November 2, at 8pm for an evening of songs and stories. Albert Lee has been described, by Eric Clapton no less, as the 'greatest guitarist in the world' and he has played with such luminaries as The Everly Brothers, Chuck Berry, Bo Diddley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Joe Cocker, Willie Nelson, Dolly Parton, Bill Wyman and Bert Jansch. Popular guy. Peter Asher first came to prominence in the 1960s as a member of the pop duo Peter and Gordon, before going on to a successful career as a manager and record producer. Together they cannot help but be a force to be reckoned with.

■ Things are curiously and curiously with The Curious World of Hieronymus Bosch on Thursday, November 3. If you've seen his paintings before you will know that describing Bosch as 'curious' multiple times is not really an over-statement. This documentary from Exhibition on Screen asks who is Bosch, why are his strange and fantastical paintings so popular and how did his work bridge the medieval and renaissance world? This Garden of Earthly Delights starts at 7.30pm.

■ Five star comedian Lucy Porter is talking Consequences this week. You'll probably know Lucy off the telly (QI and Mock the Week) and radio (The News Quiz) but if you don't, this show will be a perfect introduction to her talents. The show has already premiered at this year's Edinburgh Festival and has received the aforementioned 5 star reviews so go along on Friday, November 4, at 8pm and see for yourself why Lucy is so popular.

■ On the big screen the arts centre has Swallows and Amazons (PG) in which a group of jolly nice children meet some more jolly nice children in the Lake District and have some adventures on boats involving a not so jolly villain. Re-live the delights of your childhood reading on Monday, October 31, at 1.30pm. On the same day, but at 7.30pm, the arts centre has Bridget Jones's Baby. Bridget and her baby frolics will be back on Tuesday, November 1, at 7.30pm.

■ Coming up, the arts centre

NEXT WEEK: Lucy Porter brings her show Consequences to the arts centre. Below, two stalwarts of the 60's music scene, Peter Asher and Albert Lee has The Men Who Marched Away on Saturday, November 12. This show, by the same team who have performed A Medieval Christmas, A Victorian Christmas and The Canterbury Tales at the arts centre, commemorates the 100th anniversary of the First World War with soldiers' songs, music hall numbers and war poems set to music. The arts centre also has Haverhill Silver Band's Band Full of Talent on Sunday, November 13, Brendan Shine on Wednesday, November 16 and Stephen K Amos on Thursday, November 17.

■ Saturday, October 29, 2.30pm & 7.30pm SEVEN: Deadly Sins of Dance Show. £10, £5

■ Monday, October 31, 1.30pm Swallows and Amazons (PG). £4.50

Majority of millennials will buy an electric car

SOME 80 per cent of young drivers would consider buying an electric car according to new research conducted by Marmalade, the leading provider of cars and insurance for young drivers.

The survey questioned drivers, aged 17-24 years old, about their thoughts on purchasing electric cars and their perception of these vehicles. Furthermore, almost 85 per cent said they would purchase an electric car in a bid to being more environmentally friendly.

There were concerns from young drivers regarding current specifications of electric cars including 82% of respondents stating that the limited miles from a battery are a drawback. In addition 80 per cent of those who completed the survey said that the lack of public battery charging power points could be a problem.

Despite these concerns almost 75 per cent of respondents said that they would consider buying an electric car to keep running costs of the vehicle low. Four out of five millennials stated that the zero road tax on electric cars was a key consideration in buying an electric car.

FAN BASE: Millennials have identified electric cars as their preferred method of transport for the future

Crispin Moger, CEO of Marmalade, said: "Our latest survey told us that our young drivers are thinking more about a car's green credentials before purchasing. I think this highlights a requirement for the industry and government to invest more heavily and quickly in this area of technology. With a more environmentally conscious, new generation of drivers, if more steps are taken to ensure electric cars are more widely available and catered for it will help young people to access the cars they want to drive at an affordable price."

David Aniculaesei, an 18-year-old Marmalade customer, says: "I would happily own an electric car instead of my petrol one because it would mean lower costs, it would be environmentally friendly and overall a better solution for commuting."

Marmalade offers over 35 models of new car from 14 manufacturers, chosen specifically with young drivers' needs in mind, including the Nissan Leaf and Volkswagen e-Golf, through its Cars for Young Drivers offering.

AWESOME: M4 DTM Champion Edition

BMW M4 DTM offers startling 492bhp

BMW HAS unveiled the limited-run M4 DTM Champion Edition in celebration of BMW Motorsport Works driver Marco Wittmann's DTM championship title.

Only 200 examples of the modified M4 will be produced, and will cost 148,500 Euros (£134,136 at the time of going to press).

Compared with the regular M4, the DTM Champion Edition straight-six engine features a power output that has been increased by 68bhp to 492bhp, while torque has been upped to 600Nm, a gain of 50Nm.

This jump in power allows the car to sprint from 0-62mph in 3.8 seconds, before hitting a limited top speed of 190mph. BMW claims it can achieve a fuel consumption figure of 33.2mpg on the combined cycle, while CO2 emissions stand at 199g/km.

You should be able to have what you want, including the price

by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German goliaths of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

Increased effectiveness using newspapers

2.8x	1.7x	5.7x

So, whatever the size your business or budget, get motoring into newspapers.

Bone sees red as Borough are knocked out of Vase

Football

HAVERHILL Borough's FA Vase hopes are over for this year after a 4-0 loss at Felixstowe & Walton United.

Rory Bone's red card in the 23rd minute proved to be the turning point of Saturday's match as moments later Felixstowe took a 1-0 lead.

Up until that point, Boro had made a good start, with Jarid Robson and Charlie Holmes testing the home keeper with shots from distance.

But the game turned when Jordan Matthews broke free for Felixstowe, and Bone's desperate last-ditch tackle was judged a foul, with the player also being shown a red card.

The hosts scored from the resulting free kick, and although Boro came under more pressure it remained 1-0 at half time.

Felixstowe dominated the second half though, scoring early on to make it 2-0.

A third goal followed just after the hour, and after Ryan Swallow had gone close to pulling one back for Boro, another Felixstowe goal eight minutes from time sealed the win.

On Tuesday Boro suffered a 1-0 defeat in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division.

A defensive error from the hosts proved to be the difference, Boro needlessly conceding a corner in the 56th minute from which the visitors scored.

Swallow, Holmes and Ryan Phillips all went close to scoring for the home side but they were unable to convert their chances, and it stayed at 1-0 at the final whistle.

In the Premier Division, Haverhill Rovers enjoyed a 2-1 win at home to Fakenham.

Marcus Hunt put Rovers in front early on but the visitors equalised before half time.

A headed goal from Rory Jebb put Rovers back in front, and after withstanding some pressure from the visitors, they held on for three points.

Youngsters shine during county tour tournaments

HAVERHILL Tennis Club recently held two county tour linked tournaments with some impressive performances from local players.

The under-nine orange event was played in a new format where matches were contested over one tie-break, with the first player to 10 points declared the winner.

Players came from Sawbridgeworth, Culford, Newmarket and Cambridge, with Haverhill's Alfie Paffett finishing in fourth place after a high quality competition.

Alexander Felix was the winner, beating Isaac Stevens-Lee 10-9 in the final.

The under-14 boys' event featured eight players in total, with Sam Fowle, Nathan Sheppard and Harvey Paffett from the host club.

Each player played three matches, with Paffett and Sheppard progressing to the consolation final after losing earlier matches.

IMPRESSIVE: The players who competed in the orange event - Freddie Higgins, Alastair Blakemore, Alfie Paffett, Lorenzo Chapman, Alexander Edie, Isaac Stevens-Lee, Zak Brown, Max Kaser, Leo Runciman

Paffett came out on top in the battle between the two Haverhill players, winning 4-1, 4-3.

A number of county players took part in the event, including Rohan Iyengar who qualified for the final as top seed.

Scott Bowman was another county player who progressed to the final, but he was outclassed 4-0, 4-0 by Iyengar.

Athletics

Firat is first to finish for Haverhill at Chelmsford

YUSUF Firat was the first Haverhill Running Club member across the finish line at the annual Chelmsford Marathon.

He clocked 3hr 36min 38sec and was followed by long-distance specialist Shirley Fowler, who completed the course in 4:14.08.

Simon Wallis did a personal best of 4:15.26, while Jack Tappin, Stuart Sheppard and Joanne Rosenwold also completed the challenging course.

Youth football

Town suffer home loss to Harriers

HAVERHILL Town under-15s lost 4-2 to Hardwick Harriers.

Town opened the scoring through Jack Lisher but Harriers hit back with two goals before half time.

Harriers made it 3-1 in the second half, but Town reduced the deficit when Tyler Griffin scored.

The result was settled when Harriers netted their fourth.

Haverhill Rovers under-11s won 3-2 at Gamlingay thanks to goals from Thomas Wright (2) and Ronnie Nelson.
